

Contributors

Bruce Bennett is a graduate of the Universities of Western Australia, Oxford and London. He is Professor of English at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy in Canberra and Adjunct Professor at the Australian National University. His books include Spirit in Exile: Peter Porter and his Poetry (1991), The Oxford Literary History of Australia (1998), with Jennifer Strauss, and Australian Short Fiction: A History (2002).

Adrian Caesar was born near Manchester, took his doctorate at the University of Reading and has lived in Australia since 1982. Formerly Associate Professor at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy, he is the author of three books of poems, three books of literary and cultural criticism and The White (2002), a biographical study of Scott and Mawson.

Mariaconcetta Costantini is Associate Professor of English at the University G. d'Annunzio of Chieti-Pescara, Italy. She has published articles on Victorian literature (Elizabeth Gaskell, G.M. Hopkins, Christina Rossetti, Wilkie Collins, Thomas Hardy, R.L. Stevenson), on twentieth-century fiction (Raymond Carver, Angela Carter) and on anglophone writers (Ruth Praver Jhabvala, Chinua Achebe, Ben Okri). She is the author of Poesia e sovversione. Christina Rossetti, Gerard Manley Hopkins (2000) and Behind the Mask. A Study of Ben Okri's Fiction (2002).

Tamas Dobozy is Assistant Professor in the Department of English and Film Studies, Wilfrid Laurier University, Waterloo Ontario. He is the author of Last Notes: Stories (HarperCollins, 2005) and When X Equals Marylou: Stories (Arsenal Pulp, 2002).

Clive James arrived in England from his native Australia some years after Peter Porter and has lived here ever since. A freelance writer, who established his reputation as a television critic, he has published volumes of autobiography, of critical essays and of poetry.

John Lucas is Professor Emeritus of English at the Universities of Loughborough and Nottingham Trent, the author of seven collections of poetry and of many critical and scholarly works. In 1994 he founded the Shoestring Press.

Sean Purchase has lectured at the University of Wales, Cardiff. He is currently researching the relationship between Victorian literature and empire. His book Key Concepts in Victorian Literature has recently been published by Palgrave.

Peter Steele, SJ, is Professor of English at the University of Melbourne and is a leading Jesuit. He has published four books of poems, four books of literary criticism (including one on Jonathan Swift and another on Peter Porter) and a book of homilies, Bread for the Journey.